Double Funeral Is Wednesday

Baby Is Orphan After Parents Die In Crash

An Alliance woman expired on her 19th birthday Monday of injuries sustained Friday night in an auto accident which killed her 31-year-old husband and injured her three-month old son.

Mrs. Emma Virginia May Eddy, 19, of 748 Fairview Ave., Alliance, died Monday afternoon at 2:40 in the Salem Central Clinic.

Her husband, Joseph Kenneth Eddy, driver of the family car, was killed in the accident which occurred on Route 9 near New Garden.

Their infant son, Joseph Allen, is in good condition at the Clinic with a broken leg.

According to state highway patrolmen, Eddy was driving east on the Winona-Bridgewater Road and pulled onto Route 9 into the path of a truck-trailer operated by Eli Stutzman, 29, of New Philadelphia, who escaped injury.

Columbiana County Coroner E. R. Sturgis ruled the highway tragedy "accidental."

Funeral Wednesday
Double funeral services will be held for Mr. and Mrs. Eddy Wednesday afternoon at 2 at the Stark Memorial, with Rev. Roland B. Shewalter, pastor of the Sebring Presbyterian Church, officiating. Interment will be in the Alliance City Cemetery.

Friends may call at the Memorial tonight from 7 to 9.

Born Nov. 19, 1937, in Alliance, Mrs. Eddy was the daughter of George and Rosetta Brunner May. Survivors include her mother, Mrs. May of Alliance; her infant son; five brothers, George May, Jacob May, John May, Billy May, and Michael Mikol Jr. of Alliance; six sisters, Freda Marie May, Claradell Michael, Mrs. Frances Bowman, Mrs. Leona Thompson, Mrs. Wanda Donahue, all of Alliance, and Mrs. Edith Hobbie of Salem.

Bettis May Quit School Board For New Appointment

LISBON — Atty. J. Warren Bettis of Salineville is expected to hand in his resignation to the county school board this evening at their regular meeting.

Bettis was elected to county board a year ago and was its president. He is expected to be appointed assistant prosecuting attorney in January. He is a member of the Ohio Draft Board and governor-elect of Ohio District Ruritan Clubs.

West Township's question of joining Minerva will be discussed tonight.

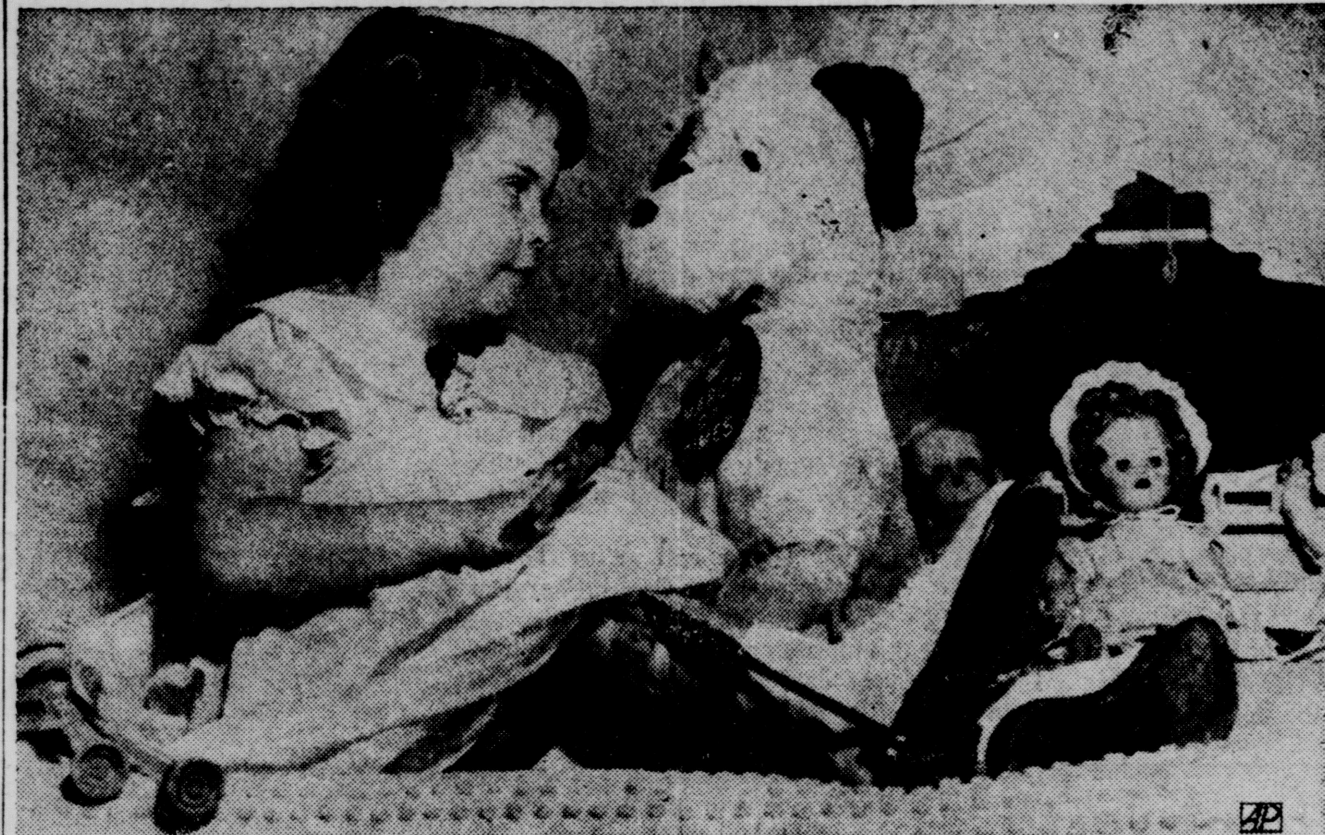

There is also a possibility that a county citizen committee for better schools may be appointed. The committee would study the county schools and make recommendations, which if approved, would go to voters in individual school districts for their decisions.

It is expected that a new board member will be appointed to succeed J. Paul Wilms who was automatically out after Columbiana school took over the territory where he lives. It is hinted that Jack Pozenel, president of West Point schools, will be appointed to the county board.

60 Refugees On Way To America

Hungarians Flee Russian Terror

VIENNA (AP) — Sixty refugees from Soviet terror in Hungary were on their way to homes in the United States today as American officials worked to speed up to 5,000 across the Atlantic.

The fugitives from Russian suppression of the Hungarian rebellion streamed out to other West European countries at the rate of 1,000 a day, but they poured into Austria nearly four times as fast.

The total to reach Austria since the Russians turned their tanks and guns on the rebels was fast approaching 50,000. About 8,000 so far have been shipped out to foreign countries, and many are finding homes and jobs in Austria.

To Land Wednesday

A silver, blue and red DC4, chartered by the Intergovernmental Committee for European Migration, left Vienna's Schwechat Airport early this morning with the first 41 refugees bound for the United States. It collected another 19 Hungarians in Munich and was due at McGuire Air Force Base, N. J., near Camp Kilmer, Wednesday.

The next planes carrying U. S. bound refugees are scheduled to leave Wednesday. Two or three planes — one from Linz and the others from Vienna — are expected to take off with about 200 refugees. ICEM officials announced. Committee spokesman said one plane would go to Milwaukee to take part in a free Hungary celebration Sunday.

Group Appeared Calm

The first group from Vienna included 15 men, 11 women, 13 children under 14 years old and 2 infants. Most appeared calm and thoughtful. Before taking off, they gathered about the plane and sang their national anthem, "God Help Hungary."

Eisenhower offered refuge to 3,000 Hungarians. The State Department said it already has received offers from Americans to help 3,000 of these get homes and jobs.

Most other countries offering homes to the refugees were taking them far faster than the United States.

3 Children Die When Home Burns

BURLINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Three children were killed early today in an explosion and fire in their two-room frame home near here. Five other persons, including the parents of the children, were burned seriously.

At St. Elizabeth Hospital in Covington, the survivors were listed as Charles Graziana, 28; his wife, Della Mae, 25; a son, about a year old; Graziana's brother, Jerry, 15, and the 50-year-old mother of Charles and Jerry Graziana.

W. L. McBee, a member of the Burlington volunteer fire department said the explosion and fire apparently started when Mrs. Graziana used kerosene to start a fire in a coal stove. He said there are eight children in the family. Those reported dead were 4, 7 and 12 years of age.

Members of the Burlington fire department said the house was completely enveloped in flames by the time they arrived on the scene. Burlington is about 15 miles southwest of Cincinnati.

Hurt Trying To Avoid Car Collision

A Washingtonville man is in fairly good condition today in Salem City Hospital as the result of one of three auto accidents occurring on district highways Monday.

The man, Harry DeLucia, 44, received injuries to the right arm and back, along with multiple abrasions and contusions of body, after his car rolled over three times in avoiding an auto operated by John England, 37, of the Depot Road, Salem, on Rt. 14, just east of Washingtonville at 4:15 p.m.

State patrolmen said England's car, traveling east, made a left turn off the highway in front of DeLucia's vehicle that was headed west. Patrolmen arrested England for making an improper left turn.

Theodore Shaffer, 24, of Midway, Pa., was treated and discharged from Salem City Hospital yesterday for severe lacerations of the scalp after he lost control of his tractor-trailer, went into a ditch, and struck a culvert on the Lisbon Road, one and one-half miles south of Salem at 5:45 p.m. Monday. Shaffer's truck sustained considerable damage.

Kendall Thornley, 20, of Beloit, was uninjured at 8:15 a.m. Monday on 12th St. Ext., Sebring, when his car went into a ditch.

O'Neill Rules In Trustee Appointment

Attorney General C. William O'Neill today ruled that a justice of the peace lacks the authority to appoint himself to the office of township trustee.

The opinion, sent to Columbiana County Prosecutor James L. MacDonald, blocked Justice of the Peace Wade A. Loop from appointing himself to fill a vacancy on the local Perry Township board of trustees.

The vacancy was caused by the death of Walter Fernengel last June.

The attorney general's ruling apparently clears the way for Loop to appoint another man as trustee.

8 Seabees Live On South Pole

Men Land In Planes; Mercury Is 29 Below

MCMURDO SOUND, Antarctica (AP)—Americans colonized the South Pole today.

Eight Navy Seabees and 11 sled dogs are the first residents of the bleak, snow-topped plateau at the bottom of the world, where the temperature today was 29 degrees below zero.

The party landed just after midnight in two ski-equipped C47 Dakotas. Their safe arrival was reported by radio to U. S. air base 800 miles away on the coast of Antarctica.

The Navy men will set up a camp for American scientists who will spend the black antarctic winter at the pole. Their observations will be part of the U. S. contribution to the worldwide study of the earth and its atmosphere during the International Geophysical Year.

The men who landed today will be the first in all history to live at the pole.

The planes remained on the snow about an hour while the dogs, a sled, tents, food and emergency gear were unloaded. Then they lurched into the rarefied polar air, with the assistance of jato rockets clamped to the wings, and headed back to the base.

Four other planes hovered overhead during the C47 landings—ready to drop paramedics in the event of a crash. One of the craft, a giant Globemaster, dropped a four-ton weasel — a vehicle equipped with caterpillar tracks to travel over the snow.

The Seabees unfasted the weasel from its platform — on which it was dropped under three parachutes — and drove off through the snow.

Man Kills Wife, Self As 3 Children Watch

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP)—Police said David Orton, 28, shot and killed his wife, Wilma Jean, 26, Monday night and then took his own life in their home here.

Dr. Byron F. Voorhees, Hancock County coroner, gave a verdict of homicide and suicide. Police said they believed the motive for the shooting stemmed from domestic troubles. The Orton's three small children witnessed the shooting, officers said.

Eden Is Ordered To Rest; Butler Meets Cabinet

Dock Strike Brings Economic Pinch

NEW YORK (AP)—A federal mediator has scolded union and management negotiators with a warning to "stop fiddling around" and settle the East-Gulf coast dock strike.

But the paralyzing walkout by 60,000 dock workers moved into its fifth day today with no sign of settlement. From 150 to 200 ships remained idle at deserted piers from Maine to Texas.

Session Fruitless
Negotiators for the International Longshoremen's Assn. and the New York Shipping Assn. resume contract talks today.

After a fruitless session Monday, Robert H. Moore, federal mediator, said he had told both sides they "might as well stop fiddling around."

He said he informed the negotiators he didn't think there would be any immediate government intervention to stop the strike under the Taft-Hartley law. As the contract talks continued the economic pinch caused by the strike grew more painful.

The nation's railroads ordered a halt to rail shipment of almost all export freight to all strike-bound ports. The order was aimed at blocking a massive tieup of freight cars at ports.

Costs Many Millions
The strike was already costing the nation's economy millions of dollars a day.

The union struck last Thursday midnight when its old contract ran out. Main issues in the dispute are union demands for a single contract to cover all East and Gulf ports, a full day's pay for any man called to the piers, no cut in the present two-man work gangs and a limit on the amount of cargo loaded in slings.

The New York employers' group which represents 170 shipping and stevedoring firms, insists that it does not have authority to negotiate for other Atlantic and Gulf ports.

Some Believe Prime Minister May Be Ousted

Suffers 'Overstrain' At Time When Nation Faces Tough Crisis

LONDON (AP) — R. A. Butler, No. 2 man in the British government, presided over a cabinet meeting today in place of ailing Prime Minister Eden. Eden's doctors have ordered him to rest because of "severe overstrain."

The mere fact that Eden was ordered to take it easy at a time when Britain faced some of the hardest questions to come out of the prolonged Middle East crisis led to speculation — without any official foundation — that his time as prime minister is nearing an end.

Eden has been under heavy fire ever since his decision to join with France in invading Egypt two weeks ago. The opposition Labor party has vigorously called for his resignation.

There have been some minor defections in his own Conservative party. Despite the fact that Eden has won half a dozen crucial confidence votes in Parliament, there have been persistent reports that even deeper cracks exist in the Conservative ranks.

"Diplomatic Illness"
The news of Eden's illness came too late for comment by newspapers which have opposed him at home. But in Paris, the afternoon newspaper France Soir concluded that Eden was suffering a diplomatic illness — often the first step in the removal of a political leader.

"Thus a major political crisis is opened," France Soir said. It added:

"It was not easy for the Conservatives who are opposed to the Premier to overthrow their party's leader. It can be considered now that his succession is opened."

Despite all the controversy which has been stirred at home by Eden's Middle East policies, it has never been considered likely here that he would be overthrown as in a frontal attack.

The Conservative government has a 63-vote majority in the 625-seat House of Commons. It was elected in 1955 to serve until 1960 and has comfortably beaten off all no-confidence moves by the Labor party.

Back Room Talks
Any successful attempt to oust Eden would be likely to come

Retarded Children Council To Seek Funds For School

The Salem Division of the Columbiana County Council for Retarded Children met Monday night in Westminster House. The group prepared 1,000 letters to be mailed today in an appeal for funds for the School for Retarded Children opened here recently at Westminster House.

David Simich, president of the Salem Division, said that it was not possible for the group to prepare enough letters so that each home would receive one. However, anyone not receiving a letter but who is interested in aiding the school, may send a check to the Retarded Children's Fund, c/o Farmers National Bank, Salem.

Assisting with the letters Monday night were other officers of the Salem Division, Robert Starbuck, vice president; Miss Jeanette Hoch, secretary; and Rev. William Spearman, treasurer. Members of the Business and Professional Women's Club, the Progressive Mothers Club, Junior Mothers Club and Mothers of Twins Club also assisted.

The next county council meeting will be Tuesday, Nov. 27, at 8 p.m. in the Presbyterian Church at Lisbon.

Slayer Faces Grand Jury

East Liverpool Man Mum At Hearing

EAST LIVERPOOL — Raymond E. Porter, 21, confessed killer of special officer Joseph B. Mumford, was held for the Columbiana County grand jury Monday on a first degree murder charge.

Preliminary hearing was waived by defense counsel, during the arraignment before Municipal Judge George Brokaw.

Mumford, 26, was shot in ambush Friday and a girl, Mrs. Ina Danner, 18, was wounded. She remains in poor condition at City Hospital.

Approximately 40 spectators and 10 police officers were in the courtroom or standing at the entrances when Porter was brought into court at City Hall at 3:15 p.m.

His hair was uncombed and he was wearing a plaid sports shirt and a pair of slacks without belt. He showed no emotion as the charge was read.

Porter's mother was in the courtroom along with a woman identified as his sister.

The hearing was over in five minutes and Porter was returned to his cell where he talked briefly with his mother before he was taken to the county jail at Lisbon to await grand jury action.

Salvation Army Plans Feast Tonight

Over 120 persons will feast on eight turkeys tonight along with mounds of potatoes, dishes of cranberry sauce and other delicacies when the Salvation Army opens its temple doors to members and their guests for its annual Thanksgiving supper.

To add to the spiritual atmosphere of thankfulness will be the appearance of Major Wilbur Smith of Cleveland, Salvation Army division secretary, who will speak following the dinner.

A local restaurateur took over the job of preparing the turkeys, but the Army's Ladies Home League, which is sponsoring the event, has been working all day on the trimmings for the affair.

U. N. Differs On Where To Station Police Force

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Egypt was reported today to have the general support of U.N. Secretary Dag Hammarskjöld in its demand that the U.N. police force leave the Suez Canal zone after a British-French withdrawal.

With Britain, France and Israel standing firm in their opposition, U.N. diplomats were said to be seriously concerned over the delay in finding a formula to resolve the deadlock.

Trustees Delay Fire Truck Action
Action on plans for advertising of bids for a new tank truck was deferred when the Perry Township board of trustees met Monday night.

The matter of purchasing the tank truck was only briefly discussed by trustees who have decided to examine the matter further before taking specific action.

Township voters at the Nov. 6 election approved a two-year, 2.20 mill levy for purchase of a new fire truck to be housed at the Salem fire station. Voters in that district also passed a five-year, .80 mill fire protection levy.

At Monday's session, the rates and amounts determined by the Columbiana County budget commission for the year were approved. The road program for 1957 also was discussed.

Present at the meeting were Dale Paxson, Joe Reese, and Richard Hutcheson, clerk. No trustee has ever been named to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Walter Fernengel last summer.

The trustees will meet again on Dec. 3.

Recount Deadline Past; Blake Winner

There will be no recount of official returns from the Nov. 6 election that gave State Sen. Arthur Blake of Martins Ferry an 826-vote margin over Paul V. Baxter of East Liverpool, his Republican opponent, because the deadline for applying for a new tabulation passed Monday.

In the first unofficial returns, Baxter apparently was the winner in the four-county 20th-22nd senatorial district in his bid to unseat the four-term incumbent, but discovery of a 900-vote error when the official count was made gave the victory to Blake.

State's Financial Picture Termed Dark

Ohio In Heavy Need Of More Revenue

By REED SMITH
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The need for new taxes hangs heavier than ever over the heads of officials who control the state's purse strings. Veteran Sen. C. Stanley Mechem, a Nelsonville shoe merchant, says the state's financial picture is so dark he doesn't want to discuss it.

The Senate Republican floor leader made the observation at a state meeting of fellow retailers in Columbus. Mechem said he came to the meeting to discuss the "state of the state" but decided a report prepared for him was so dark he would keep it in his pocket. He talked instead about legislative prospects for the January session of the General Assembly.

A little light on his report showed that officials expect state spending in the two-year bookkeeping period ending next June 30 to exceed revenues collected. It also indicated that if the rate of spending continues through the 1958-59 biennium, any so-called state surplus will be insufficient to balance the budget.

The report indicated that only "harsh economies" in existing programs could avoid new taxes.

But programs for public schools, public welfare and state hospitals and prisons call for heavy additional expenditures.

Those and other administrative functions of state government depend on the general revenue fund for money. Only those functions financed by "earmarked" funds such as highway and wildlife would escape difficulties.

Income from the state's 3 percent sales tax pays for nearly half of the functions financed out of the general fund. Sales tax revenues are expected to cover expenditures through mid-1957 but not beyond.

Because the trend of increasing costs is expected to continue through the current bookkeeping year, officials expect no increase in a state treasury balance of some 60 million dollars. That means, they said, that despite increased sales tax revenue, the balance will be about the same as it was in June, 1955.

Mechem's report showed that if the contemplated rate of expenditures continues into 1959, the entire 60 millions might not be enough to balance the next budget. That means, the report indicated, that expanded subsidies to schools and local governments or new or expanded state functions must depend on new taxes or drastic curtailment of present programs.

U.S. Reds Straddle Fence On Hungary

NEW YORK (AP)—The national committee of the American Communist party says "we do not seek to justify the use of Soviet troops in Hungary's internal crisis on Nov. 4."

A letter to party members from the committee adds, however:

"Neither do we join in the condemnation of this action. Were there no alternatives? Was it a grim necessity? There are no ready answers and we are in no position to give final judgment on the Soviet action."

The committee's 2,500-word letter to members was made public Monday night.

In a long discussion of events in Hungary, the letter said:

"The Oct. 24 decision of the Gerog government to call upon Soviet troops stationed in Hungary to put down the initial popular demonstrations inflamed the situation to a grave crisis."

"This was a tragic error for which the Soviet Union must also take responsibility. It disclosed the failure of a policy which was not based securely upon the national needs and sentiments of the working class and popular masses in Hungary."

All indications are that the fair this past fall will break even, according to Galen Greenisen. A full report is expected at the December meeting.

State's GOP Electors Called In To Vote

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Secretary of State Ted W. Brown today summoned Ohio's 23 presidential electors to meet here Dec. 17 to cast the state's vote for President and Vice President.

The 25 electors, all Republicans, were elected by voters last Nov. 6. Under an all or nothing system, their votes are expected to go to President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon, who were re-elected.

The electors, one for each of Ohio's 23 U.S. representatives and two senators will meet in the Ohio House of Representatives chamber.

Their report will go to the administrator of the General Services Administration in Washington. The administrator will send the total vote cast by presidential electors of other states on the same day to Congress.

City Builds 'Bethlehem' For Christmas Pageant

CASS CITY, Mich. (AP)—This small community 80 miles north of Detroit is building its own "Bethlehem" for the renewal of a Christmas pageant which has won it renown as the "Christmas town of Michigan."

By today volunteers had completed most of the groundwork on a replica of Bethlehem for the scenes of the Dec. 16 Pageant of the Nativity. The set is on a hillside overlooking this Tuscola County village. Some 250 of the townspeople are ready to re-enact the roles that brought national attention to the pageant two years ago.

The show was not staged last year, but is being revived by the Cass City Pageant Assn. because of many requests.

TRUCK DRIVER KILLED

CINCINNATI (AP)—A tractor-trailer veered into a road divider and overturned Monday night, killing the driver, Richard C. Ellison, 47, Norwood.

Police quoted witnesses as saying another truck, passing Ellison's on the right, cut to the left and forced the crash. The second truck did not stop after the accident, officers said.

Longshoremen Asked To Save Chestnuts

NEW YORK (AP)—Food importers have appealed to striking longshoremen for help in pulling 2½ million pounds of chestnuts out of the fire.

The importers said the chestnuts are buried in the holds of five strikebound ships in the Port of New York. They were headed for the stuffing in American Thanksgiving turkeys.

Worth $500,000, they represent more than half the total annual import volume, dealers said. They said all appeals to the International Longshoremen's Assn. to exempt the nuts from the strike ban have been unavailing.

Lyons Denies Slaying Matron

Disputes 5 Other Prosecution Points

CINCINNATI (AP) — Robert V. Lyons Monday denied from the witness stand that he stabbed a socialite matron to death in her home last spring.

He disputed five other points made by the prosecution at his trial on first degree murder charges.

Lyons, 43-year-old former city water meter reader told the jury, "I did not stab Audrey Pugh." She was found dead last April 11 in her Hyde Park home.

Lyons said he repeatedly denied to police questioners that he killed the woman, wife of a wealthy printing firm executive.

But he said he finally signed a statement admitting the knife killing after lengthy questioning in which he was told the statement meant the difference between "going to the chair or saving my life."

Lyons said, "I hadn't killed Mrs. Pugh. But I had no alternative." He said police told him they had enough evidence to convict him.

The former city worker also testified on these particulars on the day of the murder:

He carried no knife with him.

He checked the Pugh meter about noon instead of at 1 p.m. when police say Mrs. Pugh was fatally stabbed.

Police have the jacket he wore that day, although in the statement he told of burning it.

He did not don a sweater over the jacket in a neighbor's home, as a prosecution witness testified.

He wrote "sweaty dial" in his meter book because he failed to test the meter.

Lyons said he did not speak to Mrs. Pugh during his check of the meter and that she was alive the last time he saw her.

Presiding Judge Carson Hoy admitted last week as evidence the controversial statement in which police say Lyons admitted he stabbed Mrs. Pugh to death after she reprimanded him for knocking at the wrong door.

The statement was made the day after Lyons' arrest—45 days after the woman's death. He later repudiated the statement.

strength, by striving for unity of purpose and action from which our strength must spring.

"The Soviets have again, and perhaps more wantonly and brutally than ever before, demonstrated that they understand only force," Norstad said. "It is clear that our peaceful aims can be achieved only by maintaining our reaffirming our calm and resolute determination to defend the NATO peoples."

Gunman Kills 2 Patrolmen

Berserk Man Finally Forced Out Of House

FLINT, Mich. (AP) — A berserk gunman, handling a deer rifle with deadly accuracy, shot and killed state troopers George E. Lappi, 28, and Bert Pozza, 27, who were called to a rural home Monday to quell a family row.

Lappi died on the day after his eighth wedding anniversary. His wife is expecting another child in a few days. Pozza died on his wife's birthday. Both have two small children.

Another state trooper, Cpl. Robert Vesey, was wounded in the ankle during a 45-minute siege before Harry G. Richards, 63, was driven from his home by bullets and tear gas fired by 75 policemen.

Richards, a retired Flint postal clerk, is a police prisoner at a hospital. He was treated for tear gas effects. Police said he was too incoherent to tell what happened but they quoted his friends as saying he had been deteriorating mentally since suffering a stroke in 1948. His wife said he had been under psychiatric treatment.

Mrs. Richards said her husband became enraged during an argument over "a mere nothing" and struck her in the face with a small coal shovel. She called the troopers.

Richards barricaded himself in the house. He ran from window to window firing his rifle to hold off the troopers.

Safety On Highways Urged For Holiday

He urged continued caution if Ohio is to continue its trend toward a reduction in traffic fatalities.

Riots Erupt While Polish Party Chief Negotiates In Russia

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—A Polish newspaper says demonstrations and riots erupted in Poland while Poland's Communist party chief was in Moscow negotiating on future Polish-Soviet relations.

The newspaper Express Wieszorne received here today said disorders occurred Sunday at Bromberg. It said students and young workers set fire to the city's radio station and then fought off police and fire brigades.

Political observers here said, there was no doubt that riots broke out after announcement that the new agreement between Gomulka and the Kremlin leadership did not include provisions for the withdrawal of Soviet troops from Poland.

The independent Vienna newspaper Neuer Kurier reported "tension and disturbances" throughout Poland due to what it termed Gomulka's "taking the Moscow line."

Another Polish paper, the Glos Olszynski, told of an anti-Soviet demonstration by students at Olszyn (Allenstein), in former German East Prussia.

The Moscow communiqué on the talks said the Polish chieftain and the Kremlin leaders agreed that Soviet troops must remain in Poland, but the Poles were given veto power over Russian troop movements within their country. Western observers in Moscow and Communist officials in Warsaw got the idea that Gomulka got everything he asked for, and maybe more, in his meetings with the Soviet leaders.

Gomulka told his War welcome the Russians had agreed to write off Polish debts totaling more than two billion rubles (500 million dollars at the official rate).

Poland also is to receive payment for food and accommodations supplied Soviet troops stationed in the country under Warsaw Pact terms.

The Eisenhower Team

Although President Eisenhower lost no time after his re-election in letting it be known that he is well satisfied with the makeup of his present Cabinet, the members submitted letters of resignation so that their chief could have the customary chance to start his new term with new faces around him.

Not all of the letters, however, were mere formality. The President used personal persuasion to keep George Humphrey as secretary of the treasury and Sinclair Weeks as secretary of commerce. Even Harold Stassen, who led the abortive attempt to oust Vice President Nixon from the Republican ticket, was asked to remain as special assistant on disarmament.

But even in the face of the President's clearly defined position about his official family, Washington gossip was speculating on new names for the top posts in the state and defense departments.

Secretary Charles Wilson is reported to be ready to step down as soon as the President will let him go. It is expected that that time will not be before the new defense budget has been approved by Congress.

Donald A. Quarles, secretary of the Air Force, and Charles S. Thomas, secretary of the Navy, are most frequently mentioned as possible successors.

Although attending surgeons have reported that Secretary John Foster Dulles' operation was successful, there is speculation that he might retire if he should fail to recover from his operation as rapidly as he believes he should.

Mr. Dulles has many critics both at home and abroad but he has served his country tirelessly and selflessly. Even his most severe critics are not so heartless that they do not wish him the speedy recovery that his doctors predict. However, should Mr. Dulles remove himself, there are a number of competent Americans to take over his chores. Most frequently mentioned is Thomas E. Dewey, a proved administrator as governor of New York.

Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., Gen. Lucius D. Clay and Gov. Christian D. Herter are others. Talented as these men are it is to be hoped that President Eisenhower will have for the next four years, the same team that has stood by him and the nation so faithfully in his first term.

While English Reds are relatively unimportant in terms of governmental power, they hold some important positions in labor unions and exert influence in other fields as well.

The unionists have been in the forefront of the defections over Russian moves in Hungary. Chief among them were John Horner, general secretary of the Fire Brigades Union, and Alex Moffat, a Communist for 32 years and a member of the executive committee of the Scottish branch of the National Union of Mineworkers.

So disillusioned were three who walked out that they issued a statement urging dissolution of the party and citing the Labor Party as the best representative of left-wing thought in Britain.

Multipled around the globe, that sort of thing is not likely to do much for Moscow on the battleground of world opinion.

Operation Diaper

A comment on the universality of human problems is contained in the story of an American group's aid to Hungarian refugees.

Although all sorts of supplies had been sent by agencies on this side of the Atlantic to help the escapees from Soviet terror, Foster Parents Plan, Inc., in New York received an urgent cablegram last week reporting a critical shortage of diapers.

Despite the fact that stores were closed for the day, agency officials were able to line up 1,000 of the breechcloths and to wangle permission from an airline to ship them on a passenger flight. About to rest on their laurels for a problem promptly solved, the relief workers suddenly realized diapers aren't much good without safety pins. Sure enough, they managed to arrange for 3,500 of the fasteners, which arrived at the airport just before the plane took off.

Two days later, the Plan office received another cablegram: "Hungarian baby refugees comfy tomorrow. Diapers arrived this afternoon. Thanks for remembering safety pins."

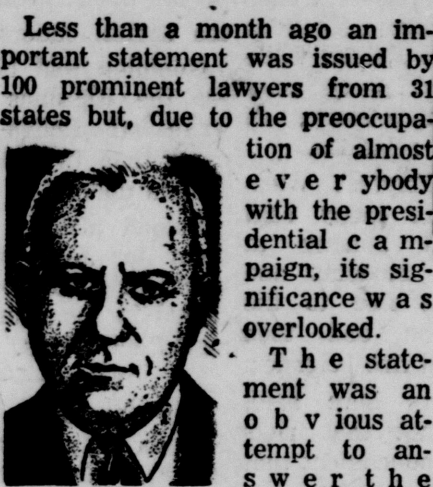

It doesn't pay to go around in circles unless it's circles of friends.

The weather has been such in some places that homemade wine is about the only thing that keeps like working.

Right To Dissent

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Supreme Court Decisions Held Open To Change

Manifesto—the document previously issued by 100 or more members of Congress who expressed criticism of the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States on the segregation question.

The 100 lawyers, while disclaiming any such purpose, struck a blow at freedom of discussion and the right of citizens to express dissent from the opinions of the Supreme Court.

Thus, the statement of the 100 lawyers said:

"To accuse the court of usurping authority when it reviews legislative acts, or of exercising 'naked power' is to jeopardize the very institution of judicial review.

"To appeal for 'resistance' to decisions of the court 'by any lawful means' is to utter a self-contradiction, whose ambiguity can only be calculated to promote disrespect for our fundamental law.

"THE PRIVILEGE of criticizing a decision of the Supreme Court carries with it a corresponding obligation—a duty to recognize the decision as the supreme law of the land as long as it remains in force."

Abraham Lincoln, however, it will be recalled, said in a speech in 1858:

"We propose so resisting it (the Dred Scott decision) as to have it reversed if we can, and a new judicial rule established upon this subject."

The 100 lawyers, on the other hand, seem to be trying to convey the impression that there is no such thing as "resistance by lawful means."

Yet every decision of the Supreme Court is "resisted" in a lawful sense when a new case is brought that challenges the first decision and seeks to have it overruled.

No case could be brought before the court unless some citizen takes the chance of "disobeying" or "resisting" the first decision. This is done in order to get clarification of the court's first decision or to make sure it covers the additional facts or circumstances that may be cited in a new case.

This is in line with what has happened again and again in American history.

Perhaps the most notable example is the vigorous campaign carried on in the court of public opinion by prominent churchmen against the famous decision in the "McCullum Case" by the Supreme Court in 1948.

IT WAS ON the subject of religious instruction conducted after regular school hours by private teachers in public school buildings. This was unanimously ruled by the court to be a violation of the First Amendment, which forbids Congress to pass any law with respect to "the establishment of any religion."

Four years later that decision was reversed by a 6-to-3 vote of the court in another case in which certain children, whose parents had willed it, were "released" to go to other parts of the city for religious instruction while the other students were required to stay in school.

The three justices said they saw no difference—school facilities were still being used to make sure certain children did go to religious schools and certain records on the subject were kept by public school authorities.

But during that four-year interval what has been happening? Prof. Edward S. Corwin, eminent constitutional authority, said the Supreme Court "has the right to make history, as it has often done in the past, but it has no right to remake it."

Also, Henry P. Van Dusen, now president of the faculty of Union Theological Seminary of New York and prominent in the World Council of Churches, spoke of Mr. Corwin's views as a "sweeping indictment" and made several lectures and speeches on the subject criticizing the court.

HE QUOTED approvingly the statement of Dean Luther Allan Weigle, another prominent churchman, past president of the Federal Council of Churches and dean emeritus of Yale Divinity School, who called the court's interpretation of the First Amendment "untrue" and "a falsification of history produced by methods of handling evidence which would shame any competent graduate student."

Mr. Weigle said: "In its declaration of what the First Amendment means today, the court is making law. That may be one of its functions but the falsification of history with which it attempts to support the new interpretation cannot command respect."

Certainly these churchmen had a right to utter their dissent. Justice Black, in referring to the public campaign against the first decision, said in the 1952 opinion of the Supreme Court:

"With equal conviction and certainty, others have thought the McCullum decision fundamentally wrong and have pledged continuous warfare against it. The opinions in the court below and the briefs here reflect these diverse viewpoints."

Doubtless Justice Black used the term "warfare" only in the metaphorical sense, which is also the way the "Southern Manifesto" presumably used the word "resist."

Come Back Mr. Chips

By WILLIAM RAPP

Many a Mr. Chips in the United States just isn't ready to say goodbye.

Important hidden manpower resources for our expanding school systems are awaiting discovery just off the edge of many a campus.

The pressing shortage of teachers in the United States is cracking an age barrier that holds a time-honored place in American life.

For decades, the teacher has been a civil servant with an established pension system and a fixed retirement age. For many teachers this has been a source of comfort and security; for others a useful career has been cut off by forced retirement.

In principle, both teacher and public have accepted the retirement of educators at a fixed age or after a specific number of years of service. Now, prominent educators are questioning the system.

Forced into retirement this spring by a Columbia University regulation, journalism dean, Carl W. Ackerman took the occasion of his involuntary departure to warn against this practice.

Noting that the increased birth rate since World War II will inescapably lead to increased enrollments in colleges and universities in the next 10 to 20 years, Dean Ackerman pointed out that there are not enough facilities for training adequate numbers of teachers.

The brain power reservoir for educational purposes in the future," he said, "will have to include men and women over 65."

Addressing the eighteenth annual meeting of the Association of New York State Teachers College Faculties last month, William S. Carlson, president of the State University of New York, called for a reexamination of the university's faculty retirement policy.

By extending the retirement age of teachers in the colleges across the state from 65 to 70, it would be possible to increase the supply of teachers by 12 per cent, he stressed.

Reporting that the University of Oregon had just raised the retirement age of its faculty members to 72, Dr. Carlson called it a "straw in the wind" and predicted that all educational institutions

"may be headed in that direction." Below the college level there is also evidence of a movement to make use of teachers in greater depth.

The St. Louis Board of Education has voted to raise the age limit of beginning teachers from 50 to 60. The compulsory retirement age in St. Louis remains 70.

In New York City, the board of education is recruiting retired scientists and engineers as biology, physics, chemistry and mathematics teachers—most desperately needed as the interest of students turns toward the sciences. Current regulations requiring professional teacher training will be amended to permit applicants under 70 to teach on a part-time or emergency basis.

Pilgrims Wouldn't Know '56 Bird

By HENRY LESENE

RICHMOND, VA. Time and science have done strange things to the symbols of Thanksgiving—turkey and maize, or Indian corn.

The genetic laws of Gregor Mendel, the Austrian abbot, have transformed them into things the Pilgrims might scarcely recognize. Other fields of science have also done some astounding things to and with them.

It has been known for a long time that the turkey, while bearing the name of a foreign country, is virtually the only domesticated bird or animal native to this hemisphere and was introduced to Europe by the Spanish "Conquistadors."

Only recently, however, geologists and botanists have concluded that corn also is native to the Americas rather than to Asia and that it is at least 60,000 years old rather than the previously supposed age of about 20,000 years.

A GROUP OF HARVARD University botanists not long ago drew these conclusions on the basis of fossilized grains of corn pollen found in drill cores 200 feet below Mexico City. They decided that corn is not, as long supposed, descended from the tropical grass teosinte.

Genetics increased the size of the turkey of about eight or 10 pounds the Pilgrims knew to a bird several times as large.

Economics and the trend to urban living dictated subsequently the breeding also of an apartment-sized, meatier, broad-breasted turkey—and, incidentally, with white rather than bronze feathers.

Turkey production in the United States has virtually doubled since 1949 and this year's crop is a record 76 million. One of several factors, the advent of the age of the "wonder" drugs, has made poultry raising a less hazardous business.

With new breeds and modern feeding methods, the turkey has gradually become a year-round instead of a seasonal bird.

The geographical pattern has changed substantially with the "big business" evolution of the industry.

California and Minnesota are still the top producing states but in recent years Virginia has attained third place and production generally has been greatly stepped up in the southeast.

SCIENTIFIC DEVELOPMENTS and economic trends have had the over-all effect of cementing and broadening the initial interrelationship of the fowl and the grain which represented a bountiful America to the Pilgrims.

Corn remains the mainstay of the modern turkey diet which is now compounded of many nutrients. Much of the protein in turkey-mash diets is gluten meal, a by-product of the corn refiners.

It contains a good measure of carotene or pro-vitamin A. Consumers might be even more interested in knowing that it's xanthophyll—the pigmentation factor in yellow corn—which in the gluten meal produces in turkeys and broilers the yellow skin color.

But a corn by-product also is a major item in feeding the molds which produce the broad spectrum antibiotic, aureomycin, as well as the first antibiotic, penicillin.

In this form it is "steepwater," so called because it is the water in which the versatile corn kernels have been steeped or soaked before the grinding begins in the corn refining process.

Steepwater, converted to a thick syrupy liquid full of the minerals and proteins of corn, is shipped by tank car to the big drug companies which make antibiotics.

TURKEYS INCREASINGLY bear federal inspection and grade markings as processors tend more and more to use the U.S. Department of Agriculture's inspection and grading services.

Some of this Thanksgiving's birds, however, bear for the first time still another label indicating that the quality of freshness has been enhanced by a process, limited to top quality birds, known as acronize.

The process, cleared so far only for poultry, is the only one involving use of an antibiotic in preservation of food for human consumption to be given the green light by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration.

It supplements refrigeration in keeping food fresh, by retarding the growth of spoilage-causing bacteria. Cooking destroys any assayable trace of the antibiotic.

Base of the process is aureomycin—the same antibiotic produced by molds which are fed on corn steepwater.

Freshmen In Congress

By DAVID BARNETT

Orientation lessons are starting for freshmen congressmen who will become lawmakers next January.

And the men who do the teaching say some of the newcomers can use guidance. Said one old-timer:

"Some of these boys are so green they can't tell beans from apple butter."

The unofficial and informal job of showing the Washington ropes to newly elected congressmen belongs to the staff members of the Republican and Democratic congressional campaign committees.

The Democrats already have started. The GOP committee expects to name a "head tutor" week.

New congressmen who have already made preliminary scouting expeditions of the city they will inhabit for at least the next 2 years, looked for answers to the same problems that have frustrated freshmen lawmakers in the past:

1. How to obtain a nice house in a district that provides good schools for the children on a lawmaker's salary within walking distance of the House office building?

2. How to get good office space and committee assignments? How much of a staff is needed and where are the knowledgeable slaves to do a good job obtained?

The experienced men who take the newcomers by the hand year after year say the freshman who has the hardest time adjusting to life as a U.S. congressman is the man from a small town who has had no legislative experience even in the town council or state legislature.

"The first shock," explains one old-timer, "comes when he sees the prices—the rent in this town."

The situation was worse when congressional pay was $15,000 a year. Last year, it was increased to $25,000, including the $2,500 expense account.

But even that amount does not permit a lawmaker to throw greenbacks around, particularly as he probably must maintain a home in his district as well as one in Washington.

Some of the newcomers think they can save by renting in Washington just for the six or seven months Congress will be in session. Usually, that doesn't work. Landlords realize that representatives, who must go to the voters every two years to stay in Washington, are not particularly good prospects for long-term leases. And most of the landlords don't care for six-month rentals.

The kind of home the neophytes dream about in Washington is practically nonexistent. The Capitol Hill area, where the congressional office buildings are located, has been refurbished a bit but it is not yet a pleasant residential area in which to bring up a family.

Fifty-four congressmen who will take their seats in the 85th congress next year were not incumbents. Most are completely new to Washington, although some served in sessions prior to the 84th. Nine of the new faces are in the Senate although two of these have served in the Senate years ago.

The House will have 24 freshmen Democrats and 21 freshmen Republicans. (Two seats are still somewhat in doubt which could change the figures slightly).

So They Say

Let us, as the beneficiaries of greatness give a good accounting of our stewardship by helping those in need and by rendering aid . . . to the ill, the destitute and the oppressed in foreign lands. — President Eisenhower in his Thanksgiving proclamation.

We were really out of this world. — Scientist Keith Lang on setting 42,100-foot balloon record.

We must let potential aggressors know that we have this capability (atomic weapons) and that we will employ it if it is necessary, but only if necessary to defend against aggression. — Donald A. Quarles, Air Force secretary.

France and the United Kingdom and Israel are heeding the admonition of the (U.N.) General Assembly (to get their troops out of Egypt) . . . would that the Soviet Union were as civilized in heeding the admonition of the General Assembly regarding Hungary. — Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., U.S. ambassador to the U.N.

U. N. Effect On The Home

The Twitchells had obviously been listening to or otherwise following the U.N. General Assembly meetings. "What would you like for breakfast," asked the wife. "What's on the agenda?" asked Elmer.

"I propose bacon and eggs," said the missus. "I rise to a point of order and ask whether bacon and eggs have been adopted with proper respect for the procedural rules," said Mr. Twitchell.

"Our charter clearly permits bacon and eggs to be adopted any time," said the wife. "However, as a peace-loving wife I would consider a motion in favor of wheatcakes and sausages." "I would be inclined to oppose them," said Twitchell.

"On what grounds?" demanded the wife. "As is well known by democratic peoples who count their calories, wheatcakes and sausages contribute to excess weight. Excess weight contributes irritability. Irritability leads to friction and conflicts," Twitchell insisted.

"MY LIST OF SPEAKERS includes the children and I suggest we hear them on the matter of wheatcakes and sausages at once," argued the wife.

"In a wheatcakes, sausage and maple syrup issue the children are prejudiced," said Elmer. "I may even raise the matter of credentials."

"I must emphasize that I am in a hurry to get to business and cannot tolerate tactics aiming to delay and confuse. Not wishing to complicate matters, I will settle for toast and coffee, reserving my right to be heard on wheatcakes at a later date. How do you vote on this?"

"Abstention," said Mrs. Twitchell. "And I desire to explain my attitude. My government is for the right of every man to have toast and coffee but would amend any resolution on toast and coffee so that there could be no commitments regarding butter, cream and sugar."

"At a critical time like this I propose that toast and coffee be referred to a special committee to inquire and report, and that further trouble be avoided by letting me have tea and crumpets under Article B-5687," argued Mr. Twitchell.

Elmer looked around. The wife had gone. She was using her veto power on the entire matter of breakfast.

MOSCOW PATTERN

I got into a two-man fight—
A third man did appear;
He slugged me, and to "Who are you?"
He barked, "A VOLUNTEER!"

THE PENNSYLVANIA Supreme Court has held that a girl hurt in an auto crash, after kissing the driver just before the collision, is not entitled to damages, as she contributed to smash-up. This is a blow at both kissing and at automobile, and of the two we think the kiss is here to stay. The only question is whether it should be given rounding a sharp turn.

TV's "Jack and the Beanstalk" struck us as a little too cute, causing many watchers to cry, "That ain't the way I heard it."

Moscow has a simple way with explanations, the latest of which is that only fascists, criminals, spies and gangsters fight for their freedom, and that only the people who shoot them down are heroic, fair-minded, peace-loving folks determined on fair play.

The hero of "The King and I" was the grandpaof Prince Wan Waihayakon, the new president of U.N. General Assembly. . . . He is Oxford educated and speaks perfect English.

Bowling, which used to be more or less a saloon-trade sport, is now the fastest growing sport in the land. . . . Madison Square Garden was recently the scene of a national bowling contest. . . . It came so close to the Horse Show that one spectator, after watching a top bowler make a remarkable score, said, "Okay, but let me see you do it over the hurdles."

A congressional committee is studying the matter of requiring registrations and operator licenses for all users of speedboats. . . . Complaints have poured in from boatmen and bathers all over the country against the wild operation of these craft, mostly by speed-mad kids who seem pretty scornful of the oldest rules of the sea. . . . There have been thousands of accidents and some tragedies. . . . Committee may come up recommending a law to license speedboat operators — even the outboard boys — just as auto drivers are licensed. . . . With every applicant undergoing a test.

3 Cleveland Papers Still Strikebound

CLEVELAND (AP)—Publishers of Cleveland's three big daily newspapers still must reach wage agreements with pressmen, photo-engravers and truck drivers before they will resume publication.

The papers—the Plain Dealer, News and Press—haven't circulated since Nov. 1. The publishers say they won't resume until agreements have been worked out with all unions.

The Cleveland newspaper guild—which struck the Press at midnight Oct. 31—has agreed to new contracts with all three papers. The editorial and commercial employees represented by the guild get wage increases of $4 to $6.50 weekly this year, and another $2.50 next year. The old rate for news-men with five years' experience was $122.50.

Next to sign was the typographical union, which accepted wage increases of $4.50 this year and $3.50 next year. The typographers' old rate was $113.25 per week.

The stereotypers, mailers and paper handlers accepted the same wage increase approved by the typographical union, but the pressmen rejected it.

Old rates were $110.85 for stereotypers, $109.85 for pressmen, $102.37 for mailers and $89 for paper handlers.

The pressmen's president, Morris Coe, said negotiations are continuing and another membership meeting is scheduled for tonight.

Publishers' representatives negotiated with the photoengravers Monday, but no agreement has been announced. The drivers' contract expired Nov. 14, but President John Marion said it was extended 30 days while negotiations continue.

"We're ready to go back any time the others sign," Marion said.

14,941 Ohio Farmers To Get $5,352,058 In Soil Bank

WASHINGTON (AP)—Soil bank payments totaling $5,352,058 will go to 14,941 Ohio farmers next year for agreeing to cut back their 1957 wheat crop.

That is the latest total on Ohio's participation in the wheat soil bank. An Agriculture Department spokesman said today those figures are just about complete.

Ohioan Sentenced For Kidnaping Girl

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—Auto Mechanic Harry Jack Bloomer, 24, Youngstown, Ohio, was sentenced Monday to six years in prison for kidnaping a 17-year-old baby sitter in Luzerne County last Aug. 17.

Bloomer was convicted in federal court Oct. 26 on a kidnaping charge. The government produced evidence showing he went to a home at Fairmont Springs where Betsy Jane Long, 17, Sweet Valley, was baby sitting for three children.

The girl testified that Bloomer, whom she knew, forced her to accompany him at gunpoint to an automobile after he tied up the three children with bed sheets.

Bloomer drove her to Wayland, N. Y., where he stopped for gas. She jumped out of the car and escaped. The next day police apprehended Bloomer at Wellsboro, Pa.

Man Kills Wife As She Lays Beside Daughter

CLEVELAND (AP)—Police today held Francis Koterba, 35, who shot and killed his wife Monday night as she lay beside their 11-year-old daughter. He then put up a wild battle against officers who tried to arrest him.

So far as could be learned, Koterba exchanged no shots with police. Detective Delbert O'Hara said Koterba fired at his wife, Josephine, 35, three times with a pump shotgun, just about "tearing her head off."

The daughter, Georgiana, was lying beside her mother on the bed, but was not hurt, O'Hara said.

Appellate Court To Hear 11 Cases

LISBON—The 7th District Court of Appeals will convene here Wednesday.

Judge Elmer T. Phillips, Youngstown; John C. Nichols, St. Clairsville; and Lynn B. Griffith, Warren, will preside.

There are 11 cases on the docket for the one-day session. Included are the two cases of State of Ohio vs. Dallas Bishop and the mandamus state of Ohio ex. el. John Russell vs. East Liverpool civil service, and state of Ohio ex. el. Ira Cunningham vs. East Liverpool civil service.

MAY HIKE PAY MINIMUMS
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state department of industrial relations conducted a hearing Monday on whether wage minimums for women and minors in restaurant work should be increased. Miss Margaret A. Mahoney, department director, said action based on the hearing will be taken in 10 days.

New Zealand (area 103,410 square miles) has a population of 1,940,700. This is less than the city of Los Angeles.

Under the soil bank, farmers sign agreements to set aside crop land in return for government payments. This arrangement is designed to reduce farm surpluses.

In the case of wheat for next spring, Ohio farmers have agreed to take 178,806 acres out of production. This is a small portion of Ohio's total wheat acreage, which exceeds 1½ million.

Actually, a department spokesman said, Ohio farmers did not avail themselves of their full quota of 1957 wheat soil bank agreements.

"I think one explanation for this is that the corn belt wheat is often used as a rotation crop," he said. "It's apparently especially true in Ohio."

"In other words, many Ohio farmers do not depend primarily on wheat for cash income."

In contrast to Ohio, he said, wheat farmers in New York—a non-corn belt state—went over their quota for 1957 soil bank agreements and had to be assigned additional acreage.

Just when Ohio farmers will receive their checks for the new wheat agreements has not definitely been decided.

"There is a little debate going on down here on that," said one department official.

"The way it looks now, though, I think it would be a good guess that the payments will start next July."

The reason for the delay, he said, is that the department will want to check just before harvest time to make sure the farmers have really set aside their crop land.

As for 1956 Ohio soil bank payments, the spokesman said these will total $8,230,912 on all crops, of which $6,729,937.88 already has been paid.

The total Ohio soil bank payments for 1956 break down as follows:

Corn—15,860 agreements (166,609 acres), $8,090,155; wheat—1,245 agreements (12,491 acres), $76,612; early tobacco—328 agreements (185 acres), $48,301; cigar type 42-44 tobacco—53 agreements (116 acres), $15,844.

School for Fruit Growers

Ohio fruit growers will hear discussions of various problems related to their business when they meet at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment station in Wooster, Nov. 26-28. The occasion is the 26th annual fruit school.

The three-day program will feature talks by staff members of the station the horticulture department of the Ohio State University and the Agricultural Extension Service.

W. E. Krauss, associate director of the experiment station, and Marvin Smith, chairman of the agricultural economics department, the Ohio State University and other speakers will discuss such subjects as factors affecting the keeping quality of apples, fruit disease problems, insecticides, Ohio results with chemicals for apple and peach thinning, planning and planting orchards, and training and pruning apple trees.

New Corn Hybrids

Ohio's recommended crop variety list for 1957 includes two new corn hybrids, Ohio M53 and Ohio W45. A third hybrid, Indiana 252A, grown in Ohio for several years, is carried on the recommended list for the first time.

Ohio M53 is an early hybrid with good resistance to stalk rot and smut. It has a strong stalk and shank and is well suited for mechanical harvesting. Ohio W45, a mid-season hybrid, has good resistance to smut, a strong root system and shank, and husks easily. Both hybrids yield well when compared to other recommended hybrids.

Indiana 252A is exceptionally well suited for mechanical culture and harvest. It has a strong root system and shank and a medium-strong stalk.

Ohio's recommended crop variety list is established annually by a committee composed of plant breeders, extension personnel, presidents of the Ohio Seed Improvement Association and the Ohio Hybrid Seed Corn Producers, and the chairman and vice chairman of the Ohio State University's department of agronomy.

The committee considers data provided by the Ohio Agricultural Experiment station, Wooster, based on tests for disease and insect resistance, lodging resistance, quality of grain and yields.

A description of all crop varieties and corn hybrids included in the 1957 list is contained in Extension Bulletin 347, now available at county farm extension offices.

Attorney General Okays 90-5-5 Highway Construction Formula

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An Attorney General's opinion Monday cleared the way for the state to share the cost of building major thoroughfares inside cities.

The opinion, to Gov. Frank J. Lausche, in effect approved use of 10 per cent federal funds and 5 per cent local funds, plus the cost of plans, with the state paying the rest.

Known as the 90-5-5 construction formula approved by the state highway director, it clashed with State Highway Construction Council insistence on a 90-10 formula without state participation.

The ruling by Atty. Gen. C. William O'Neill said that once the council approved projects, that body had little if any further say about them. The opinion held that state expenditures from the Highway Construction and Bond Retirement Fund were subject to negotiation by the highway director.

"Nowhere in the statute relating to the Highway Construction Council," O'Neill said, "do I find any provision for a determination, or the approval of a determination, by the council of a division of costs as between (1) the state and (2) the federal government and local subdivisions of the state."

"The director of highways, of course, is given authority in clear terms to negotiate agreements as to such cost division on behalf of the state with such other participating agencies."

The opinion added that council lacks authority to interfere with plans for greater federal participation in projects than planned when the council approved them.

Concerning council approval of plans that include cost estimates, the opinion held that "it is nevertheless the project itself that is approved, rather than the expenditure of funds in the amounts thus estimated."

Final approval of all such projects rests with the general assembly, which previously authorized this year's program.

The opinion said that where any final cost estimate "is so unreasonably in excess of such preliminary cost estimate that there is no identity between the project, as originally recommended, and that for which the final estimate is made, the award of a contract, therefore, by the director of highways is not authorized by law."

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Bulgarian, Khrushchev and Co. "Butchers of Budapest," are smiling even as they view the mangled bodies of gallant Hungarian rebels — for Christmas draws near.

Victor Riesel

But it is neither peace on earth nor good will to war that brings the beam to their faces — only cold cash.

They are literally counting the American dollars, British pounds and French francs, desperately needed foreign exchange, now pouring into the Soviet war chest. For the people of the free nations are beginning to buy religious articles and decorations for trees that will fill the hearts of the youngsters with joy — youngsters about the age of many who were crushed to lifelessness by Soviet tanks.

These gaily decorated ornaments will be drenched with the blood of victims of Soviet savagery, for millions upon millions of such items from East Germany, Czechoslovakia, Poland and other satellite nations — as well as Russia itself — are being dumped into the free world.

MANY A COLORFUL tree here in our own country will glisten with knickknacks that have brought valuable American dollars to the Kremlin killers.

These ornaments may seem like small items of no great consequence, but leaders of the retail clerks unions tell me that counters from one end of the country to the other are piled high with such slave labor items.

I checked the statistics with the U.S. Department of Commerce and found that since last year imports of Christmas tree decorations and religious articles from Soviet-dominated lands hit close to the 2 million dollars mark and this estimate only covers the 18 months through June of this year.

The leaders of the International Transport Workers Federation, a global anti-Communist organization whose members move these goods, say that these Soviet sales are much higher in other nations across the world.

THESE LABOR PEOPLE point out that these totals do not take into account the imports of food products from Communist countries. In that same period — from January 1955 through June 1956 — I discovered that we imported 34 million dollars worth of food from Russia, East Germany, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Poland, Albania, Bulgaria and Romania. And this at the very moment when there is widespread severe starvation behind the iron curtain. Almost 32 million dollars of that went for canned hams from Poland.

On the basis of the U.S. imports alone, we can estimate that the Russians are making hundreds of millions of dollars on these sales across the world.

The leaders of the Transport Workers Federation, appalled at the recent ruthless Russian terror in Poland and Hungary, have swung into action to cripple Soviet trade with the non-Communist world.

The fight to slash the commercial arteries of the Soviet war behemoth is being sparked by Omer Becu, a leader of the ITF, which includes all non-Communist transport unions, whether by land or sea or air.

MR. BECU and his associate have been burning the international wires with phone calls to the anti-Communist leaders of sailors, dockworkers, railroad men, air cargo handlers and pilots calling for an international boycott of Soviet goods.

They are appealing to these union leaders not to let a bale of material from Soviet lands be loaded or unloaded anywhere in the free world.

In a telephone call from his London headquarters, Mr. Becu appealed to the rail workers in the U.S. too, for aid in closing the transport lines of America to slave labor shipments.

He has requested A. E. Lyon, secretary - treasurer of the Railway Labor Executives' Assn., to enlist the aid of the various Railway Brotherhoods in this fight. Mr. Becu is readying similar appeals to all seagoing, trucking, airborne and longshore unions here as well.

Dock workers in New York have already demonstrated their willingness to choke off Soviet shipments by refusing to unload Russian furs and Polish printed material. And now many a labor chief has called in his attorneys to check on the legality of a union-advocated boycott.

"IT'S MORE than just a question of possible contract violation," one retail union leader told me. "The big question is whether we will violate any of the state and federal laws by officially calling upon our people to ram the slave labor loads down the throats of the commies. Our lawyers are checking that right now."

"We're all for it. We have devoted our lives to fighting the Soviet system and its agents. We are all outraged by this new display of their old brutality. If we can boycott them officially, we will. But our members are so infuriated by the blood-letting abroad they may not wait upon legalities."

So watch for the spread of a global boycott against the Reds.

QUITS DIPLOMATIC POST — Clare Boothe Luce chats with President Eisenhower at the White House where she asked the Chief Executive to accept her resignation as U. S. ambassador to Italy "at the earliest convenient moment." Mrs. Luce said that a recent illness made it necessary for her to have "several months of real rest." Mr. Eisenhower accepted her resignation but did not set a date for it to take effect.

Whether it is "official" or "spontaneous," the workers of the world will unite behind the Hungarians who had nothing to lose but their lives — and did so.

Drunken Nikita Khrushchev Reveals Much About Himself

WASHINGTON (AP) — There are drunks and drunks, as everyone knows.

Noisy. Weepy. Affectionate. Quarrelsome. Just run down the list of your acquaintances. Or look in the mirror, if necessary.

Then there is Nikita S. Khrushchev.

It is no secret that the boss of Russia's Communist party is a handy man with a vodka bottle, though he will settle for champagne or even those effete Western martinis.

He has made an oaf of himself in public more than once.

But he outdid himself last weekend. In two consecutive sentences he revealed much about himself, his confederates and the ruling class of the Soviet Union.

"Red-faced and gesticulating," in the words of an Associated Press story that passed through Red censorship, Khrushchev told a cocktail party audience:

"If you don't like us, don't accept our invitations and don't invite us to come and see you."

"Whether you like it or not, history is on our side. We will bury you."

Let's take that up point by point.

1. Anybody with an ounce of sense knows that, in this world, you have to get along with people you don't like. Those diplomatic get-togethers aren't just an excuse to get loaded. They're part of the machinery of international relations — a sort of global safety valve. If Khrushchev doesn't know that it's time somebody told him.

2. The "history is on our side" dodge is pure Marx and is at or near the heart of everything the Russians do. That is a main source of Soviet strength. Westerners plan and hope and indeed pray that everything will somehow work out all right. The Russians — the Communists, that is — feel in their bones that their system will dominate the world.

And this is true whether a Khrushchev, a Stalin, a Lenin or the Russian equivalent of Joe Smith is running the Kremlin.

There's another Khrushchev remark that may need some pointing up:

"The situation is favorable for us. If God existed, we would thank Him for this."

In other words, in the Russian boss class, God does not exist.

Their claim to friendliness toward religion fools some people in this country. You can find people who will tell you: "Why, freedom of worship is guaranteed in their constitution."

So it is — in words.

The fact is, of course, that atheism is at the root of the Communist philosophy and that the new rulers of Russia have actively discouraged religious practices except when — as in World War II — they had to call on the church to help maintain the morale of the people.

Doubtless it would be good for Khrushchev's liver if he gave up vodka sessions.

Still, there's an old Latin proverb about "Veritas in vino," which you can loosely translate as "A man will tell the truth when he has half a skunkin'."

Maybe it would be worthwhile for the Western people to take up a collection to keep Khrushchev half lit.

India Urges U.N. Check Hungary

2 Other Asian Nations Back Surprise Move

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — India and two other Asian neutrals—Ceylon and Indonesia—have unexpectedly backed U.N. moves to make an on-the-spot check in Hungary.

The three nations, which kept aloof from the Hungarian dispute, put in a resolution calling on Hungary's Communist government to grant Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld's request to let in U.N. observers.

Hungary's puppet regime has refused to admit U.N. political observers but has said it would allow relief supplies with U.N. representatives to enter Hungary.

However, it has evaded a request from Hammarskjöld that he be admitted as head of the relief mission.

The Assembly Monday debated Cuba's call for the Soviet Union to stop deportations of Hungarians, but V. K. Krishna Menon of India reportedly asked that the Asian powers' proposals be given priority.

Informed sources said the Russians were perturbed over the sudden move by the three Asian nations, whom they had expected to keep silent during the debate.

But Indian Prime Minister Nehru, after insisting prodding by opposition Socialists and some newspapers, told the Indian Parliament Monday that Soviet troops were camped in Hungary against the wishes of the Hungarian people.

Nehru declared the bitter resistance of Hungarian workers had "powerfully affected" Russia's prestige in Eastern Europe and elsewhere.

He said U.N. observers should be admitted to determine the actual situation.

During the debate on the Cuban resolution, Chief U.S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. said the United States had information that Russia has deported 16,000 persons in boxcars from Budapest alone.

"It is inevitable," Lodge declared, "that many of the men... will die from cold and exposure — just as the unfortunate victims of the Nazi concentration camps died."

Soviet Foreign minister Dmitri Shepilov earlier had accused the United States and other non-Communist nations of touching off the Hungarian crisis.

Shepilov and Hungarian Foreign Minister Imre Horvath termed the reports of mass deportations "lies."

retary Minister Christian Pineau. Both were understood to have insisted that their governments will not withdraw their troops from Egypt unless the U. N. force polices the canal area.

Egypt in turn stood firm on its demand — backed by the Soviet Union—that the U.N. troops must take up positions along the 1949 Egyptian-Israeli armistice line after a speedy withdrawal of British, French and Israeli forces.

The commander of the U. N. police force, Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, flew back to the Middle East after a series of talks with military representatives of some of the nations contributing troops to the force.

More than 600 troops of the U. N. force already were in the canal zone, standing by in barracks behind the Egyptian lines. The first contingent of Indian soldiers, took off from the staging area near Naples at dawn.

They were Asia's first contribution to the police force.

Before leaving New York, Burns said the "progress so far made in this unique venture has been very encouraging."

In the disputed canal zone, U.N. observers began an inquiry to determine whether Egyptian firing at British-French forces near the El Cap battle lines should be considered a violation of the cease-fire.

British and French officers protested an outburst of shooting from the Egyptian lines Sunday and an hour of wild firing Monday. They said their troops suffered no casualties and did not shoot back.

The Egyptian government, meanwhile, charged Britain and France with imposing "undeclared martial law" on Port Said, at the northern end of the canal, and with "committing brutal acts against its civilian population."

Hungarians Resume Jobs

Revolt Against Russia Still Lives

VIENNA (AP) — More Hungarian workers returned to their jobs today, radio Budapest said. But the revolt against Russian subjection which exploded four weeks ago still lived.

Nep Szabadsag, official newspaper of Premier Janos Kadar's government, recognized the popular demand for independence. It expressed the hope the Soviet Union would "respect the oft-expressed wish of the Hungarian people to live independently and according to its own will."

4 Plants Start Up

Radio Budapest said that four textile works had started production. Several others were idle because of the lack of power or chemicals.

In the Dorog mines, 1,000 miners went into the pits today compared with 600 the previous day, the station said. In the Salgotarjan mines 2,370 workers were reported mining coal.

Reliable reports from Budapest said many workers continued to refuse to work while the Russians remained in the city and former Premier Imre Nagy remained a refugee in the Yugoslav Embassy.

Schools were still closed and the date of their reopening has not been decided due to the impossibility of heating them during the coal shortage. Numerous schools were damaged during the fighting.

from within his own party. Traditionally, this would take the form of back room conversations among party bigwigs to impress the Prime Minister with the reasons for his retirement — followed by the announcement that he had decided to take a rest.

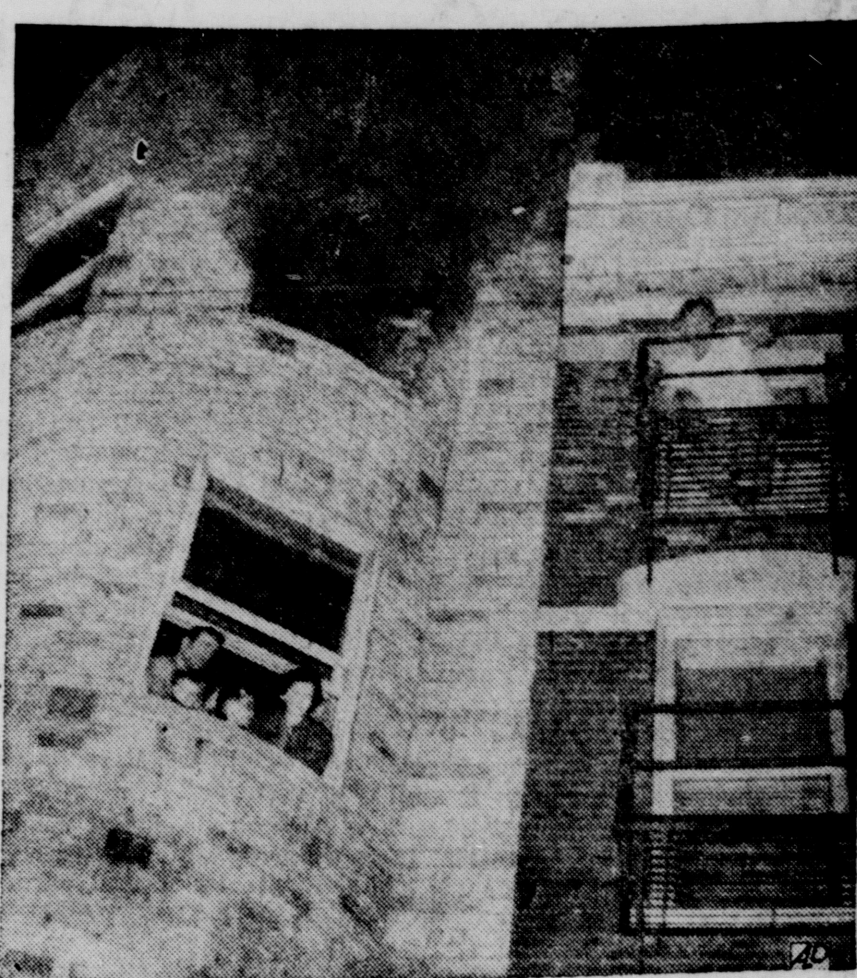

The 59-year-old Prime Minister is suffering from the effects of severe overstrain. On the advice of his doctors he has cancelled his immediate public engagements.

Later the government said Butler, the lord privy seal and leader of the House of Commons, is taking over some of Sir Anthony's duties.

A doctor who examined Eden this morning reported his progress satisfactory, but he was reported to be seeing only "the most essential" papers.

The Eden family physician, Sir Horace Evans, and other doctors have been trying to get the Prime Minister to take a rest.

There was no indication how long Eden would have to rest.

FIRE RESCUE DRAMA — These residents of a burning four-story building on Chicago's West Side stand in terror at their windows as they wait for firemen to raise ladders. Twelve persons were trapped on the upper floors of the apartment building, but all were rescued without injury. Deputy Fire Marshal Raymond Daley said incendiaryism is suspected because of the rapid spread of the flames up the stairwell.

ances would be granted to motorists.

He said, however, that the government would seek to hold the cut in allowances to industry and public transport to 10 per cent.

"For nonindustrial central heating, the present cut of 10 per cent will be increased from Dec. 1 to one-third on gas-diesel oil and 25 per cent on fuel oil," the minister added.

As Jones announced that Britain will return to automobile fuel rationing for the first time since 1950 there were whistles of surprise and shouts of "resign" from the opposition Laborites bench.

Labor leaders accused the government of "gross mismanagement of our national affairs over the past three months" and said the statement announcing rationing should include an apology to Britain and Western Europe.

Jones said minimum requirements for railways and coal production will be maintained, but said diesel oil for agriculture and fishing vessels will be cut by 10 per cent.

British Order Rationing Of Gasoline, Oil

LONDON (AP) — The British government announced today it will start rationing gasoline and oil used in motor road vehicles beginning Dec. 17.

"Necessary orders have been made" Minister of Fuel and Power Aubrey Jones told the House of Commons.

There will be a basic ration for all motorists with a limited supplementary allowance for essential purposes.

The step was taken to meet the shortages caused by the blockade of the Suez Canal that followed the British-French invasion of Egypt. The Suez is the main supply route for British oil.

The pinch resulting from blockade of the canal was being felt with increasing intensity throughout Western Europe.

Production cutbacks in some industries already are appearing in a number of British firms.

Jones gave no immediate indication as to what ration allowance would be granted to motorists.

He said, however, that the government would seek to hold the cut in allowances to industry and public transport to 10 per cent.

"For nonindustrial central heating, the present cut of 10 per cent will be increased from Dec. 1 to one-third on gas-diesel oil and 25 per cent on fuel oil," the minister added.

CANADIAN WINGS FOR NATO

AERIAL MIGHT was added to the North Atlantic Treaty organization recently when an RCAF squadron of CF-100 interceptors winged its way over the Atlantic to a new base in Marville, France. The squadron is the first of four such squadrons going overseas in a move designated "Operation Nimble Bat." The all-weather fighters, flying from RCAF Station Uplands, near Ottawa, first got a NATO dress. Camouflaged on top, they are painted a light blue on the bottom. Squadron reported to No. One Air Division.

On its way to NATO duty, squadron gets a ceremonial sendoff at the base. Three other squadrons will follow.

Twelve of the interceptors render aerial salute at show.

What Makes a Good Boy?

The $64,000 Question!

First, of course, is a healthy home life, in which the parents accept the responsibility of providing good moral and religious training for their children.

There is also a prime necessity for good school education and wholesome "after school" activities.

Another important factor is a way to give their boy a personal sense of responsibility and business training. This can best be accomplished by the boy himself, accepting a job in which he "operates" his own business. The newspaper boy has long been a proven field of this nature.

Responsibility comes from his recognizing many people depend upon his services.

Business training comes from his weekly records of expenses, and most important of all his profits. A savings and spending account, and providing part of his own needs, gives him an insight of adulthood for the future.

His everyday contact with his customers helps him to develop confidence, courteousness, and tact.

A newspaper route provides all of these worthwhile needs.

A busy boy is a good boy.

TRAPEZE — Gina Lollobrigida and Burt Lancaster are shown in a scene from the CinemaScope, color movie "Trapeze" which opens Wednesday at the state theater for a four-day run. ## Exploding Myths

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Curbsome comments of a pavement Plato: One of the dubious rewards of growing older is that you find much of what you learned when young is no longer regarded as true.

The myths you believed in during childhood are exploded one by one.

That is hard enough to face. But even harder to face is the realization that today the making and unmaking of myths has speeded up tremendously.

A thing that is accepted as fact in the morning is rejected as fact by nightfall. Today's wonder drug is tomorrow's blunder.

"True or false?" This is no longer a game. It is a terrible problem in living. As the scientists learn more and more about less and less, the average man learns less and less about more and more in our new age of enlightenment.

A few recent examples will show the conflict any guy now has trying to make up his own mind about anything:

Educators denounce rock 'n' roll music as harmful influence on the young—but an Iowa therapist says it has a beneficial influence on mental patients, even as sung by Elvis Presley.

Since 1805 every Briton has been proudly sure that Admiral Nelson messaged his fleet at Trafalgar "England expects every man will do his duty." But a 76-year-old British signman now says Nelson wouldn't have wasted time sending such a message, and even if he'd tried to, it wouldn't have been seen.

A host of physicians have blamed the rise of lung cancer on cigarette smoking—but Dr. W. C. Hueper of the National Cancer Institute now says the main cause is the noxious fumes of a motorized age.

For generations doctors have advised patients suffering from the common cold "to drink plenty of fluids." Now a Mississippi doctor says he gets better results by dehydrating them.

Atomic fallout as yet is no real peril to mankind, say some distinguished scientists. But some others, equally distinguished, say we can't be sure.

When the pundits disagree, whom are we poor ordinary mortals to put our faith and trust in? Once we were told on good authority that Washington never told

Tri-County Basketball Preview Is Scheduled For Nov. 27

League Event To Be Held In Columbiana High School

COLUMBIANA — The first basketball preview ever scheduled by the Tri-County League of high schools will be held in Columbiana High School gym, beginning at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 27.

Seven of the eight teams in the league are scheduled to play. East Palestine, the eighth team, had a previous engagement to play in East Liverpool, and Salem has been obtained from outside the loop to fill out the schedule.

Poland and Minerva have been paired for the first game, Salem and Lisbon the second, Leetonia and Louisville the third, and Sebring and Columbiana the finale. Louisville is the league defending champion.

Paired teams will play two six-minute quarters, and there will be five-minute intermissions between games. Between the second and third games officials will give a five-minute explanation of new rules.

Forty-two candidates, including only three lettermen, turned out for the first practice of the Columbiana Clippers. The lettermen are Jim Poulton, John Murphy and Ken Warrick. Seniors were represented by three, juniors 10, sophomores 12 and freshmen 17.

Two of the candidates, Bob Chmura and Gary Wilms, are from the Fairfield Township area added to Columbiana district this year. Columbiana Clippers will open their 18-game schedule Tuesday, Dec. 11, at home against North Lima.

Remaining games are: Dec. 14, Salem; Dec. 21, Springfield; Jan. 4, Canfield; Jan. 8, East Palestine; Jan. 11, Leetonia; Jan. 15, Lisbon; Jan. 18, Poland; Jan. 22, Louisville; Jan. 25, Sebring; Jan. 29, Minerva; Feb. 1, East Palestine; Feb. 5, Leetonia; Feb. 8, Lisbon; Feb. 12, East Palestine; Feb. 15, Leetonia; Feb. 18, Lisbon; Feb. 22, Minerva.

Firestone American Legion Post is receiving gifts for the "Yanks

Who Gave." Money contributions may be deposited in receptacles placed in stores and other public places. Organizations may send donations to Hal Johnson or to Adjutant Thomas Crawford.

Applications from persons who want jobs during the Christmas rush are being received at the Columbiana postoffice.

THE COMMUNITY UNION Thanksgiving service will be held in the Methodist Church at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow, with Rev. Lonnie Baltz of the Church of the Nazarene as the preacher.

Columbiana Ministerial Association, which arranged the service, announces that the offering will go Overseas Program.

Rev. A. A. Anderson, pastor, announces a Thanksgiving service for 10 a.m. Thursday in Jerusalem Lutheran Church.

Ladies night will be observed by Fairfield Ruritan Club at its November meeting at Heck's Restaurant at 7 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 29.

Rev. Loy C. Gobrecht of Alum Rock, Pa., pastor of the Evangelical and Reformed Church in Elwood City, traveler, philosopher, and humorist, will be the speaker. He is a former superintendent of the Dorseyville home for the aged in Pittsburgh. During World War II, he served as a U.S. Army chaplain and as a war correspondent.

Village council, at its meeting this evening, will hear the third reading of an ordinance providing for a town planning commission. Turned down once by a vote of 4-2, the ordinance was revived for three readings to afford citizens an opportunity to be heard.

Bosses night will be observed by the Columbiana Business & Professional meeting in Grace Evangelical and Reformed Church at 6:30 p.m. today. Bosses will be guests of members.

Hebron Lodge of Youngstown, Damascus Lodge and East Palestine Lodge will be guests of Pandora Lodge of Odd Fellows here at 8 p.m. when Pandora Lodge will confer the first degree for Hebron and Damascus Lodges. Pan-

BRIEF MOMENT OF TRUTH — Like a symbol of the Hungarian spirit that Russian tyranny cannot destroy, this young girl stands proudly before a flag bearing the ancient emblem of her once-free country — the shield with the patriarchal cross of St. Stephan. It was at a rally in Budapest after it appeared that the uprising against Soviet domination had succeeded. But her exaltation was short-lived. Within hours, the Russians returned to mercilessly crush the revolt.

ora Lodge will have its annual observance of old timers' night a week later, Tuesday evening, Nov. 27.

Surgeons Remove Girl's Eye To Halt Cancer

The 3½-year-old girl's cancerous right eye was removed Monday in what doctors at Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary called a successful operation. They said there is no indication of a similar growth in the left eye.

Ahead for Carol Ann lies lengthy pathological tests of the optic nerve to determine whether the disease has been contained.

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — A two-year national advertising campaign costing 12 million dollars will begin next spring to educate people on the value of education, it was announced Monday night.

Dr. Wilson M. Compton, president of the Council for Financial Aid to Education, Inc., New York, told the annual Presbyterian College Public Relations Conference about the plan.

He said a national advertising agency and the Advertising Council of America will handle the campaign through newspapers, magazines, radio and television.

The aim, Dr. Compton said, is to show the need for money "to raise and maintain the quality of education and not the physical plant."
